

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Chemical vapor deposition apparatus and method are provided with external metal halide gas generators that reduce leakage of air into the generators so as to improve efficiency of use of the metal charge residing in each generator.